

Olives NZ Conference 2022

Saturday 8th October 2022

Leading the Way

Rydges Airport Hotel, Wellington

Welcome from Olives New Zealand

The Executive of Olives New Zealand extends a very warm welcome and invitation to you for Conference 2022, which will be held at Rydges Airport Hotel, Wellington in conjunction with the New Zealand Extra Virgin Olive Oil Awards Dinner.

Conference 2022 on Saturday 8th October will revolve around "Leading the Way". Olives New Zealand has a rich history of leading the way with research projects. These projects are written up for international publications and requests received for presentations at overseas conferences to share our findings. Our latest Focus Grove Project concludes this year and has resulted in some major findings. In addition to our own research projects, Olives New Zealand is pleased to be involved in other research projects. A highlight for 2022-2023 is our involvement with the High Value Nutrition Project - He Rourou Whai Painga.

Presentation of the 2022 NZ EVOO Awards will be done at the Awards Dinner, which will be held on Saturday evening also Rydges Airport Hotel. This will be a gala occasion as is fitting for these premiere awards.

The excellent Presenters and the availability of our sponsors will enable you to extend your knowledge of the olive industry and give you invaluable information for moving forward in the industry.

Our Presenters

Tim van der Molen is the MP for Waikato, Opposition spokesperson for Agriculture, Horticulture. Tim will officially open our Conference. Members know first-hand the ongoing issues of compliance costs and the nonsensical environment where Extra Virgin Olive Oil has been excluded from Country of Origin Labelling regulations. What would National do to redress these issues?

Dr Fiona Lithander PhD, APD (Aus), RNutr is an Associate Professor in Nutrition at the University of Auckland. Fiona will take us through the High Value Nutrition Project - He Rourou Whai Painga. An ambitious, multi-centre dietary intervention study to explore the effects of eating a whole diet that includes high-quality New Zealand food and beverage products. The study will investigate if choosing this diet improves metabolic, cardiovascular, and well-being profiles in people at risk of cardiometabolic disease and their families. Olives New Zealand much appreciates the support of members in contributing NZ EVOO for the study,

John Valentine was previously Chief Executive of the Ministry of Forestry and then Chief Executive of the New Zealand Seafood Industry Council. Dr Lockwood Smith, then Minister for Forestry, in announcing John's resignation from the Ministry of Forestry acknowledged John as having made a very real and significant contribution to the development of New Zealand's outstanding forestry sector. John and Caroline own Lansdowne Olives, Wairarapa with 1300+ trees and is a contract grower. He recently enjoyed a cycling holiday in Puglia and was fondly regarded by locals as being an olive spy from New Zealand!

Steven Price had a career in the scaffolding industry but now, along with his wife Christine, has River Grove Olive Estate in Masterton. River Grove lies on the banks of the Ruamahanga River, just north of Masterton. Initially the grove consisted of around 1600 olive trees, most of which were planted in 2000. Steven has progressively developed the grove, through his own nursery, to around 4,000 trees over the last five years, so it is one of the handful of commercial groves in New Zealand. As well as their own brand, River Grove is a contract grower.

Stuart Tustin, Former Principal Scientist and Honorary Fellow, Plant and Food Research will take us through the final Focus Grove Presentation, which has been recognised nationally and internationally for innovation and results achieved. Stuart will review the major milestones of the project, the outcomes and learnings including the recommendations for an organic/alternative approach.

Andrew Taylor was the President of Olives NZ from 2009 - 2018 and led the organisation from tumultuous times to providing an excellent range of activities for its members and to good financial health. He brought into the role not only his expertise as an olive grower but also his wider horticultural expertise. Andrew is currently the Grove Manager of Pendleton Estate, South Australia with 170,000 olive trees across 500 hectares.
